R&D TEAM

our Research and Development team is a dynamic and forward-thinking group that is passionate about creating innovative solutions and driving the company's growth through cutting-edge research and product development.

PRODUCTION LINE

The production line starts with the arrival of raw materials or components at the beginning of the line. These materials are typically stored in designated areas and fed into the production process as needed.

PACKING LINE

a well-designed food packing line is essential for the efficient and safe packaging of food products. By incorporating quality control measures, automation, and proper sanitation practices, food manufacturers can ensure that their products are packaged accurately, securely, and in compliance with regulatory standards.

USDA SAFETY CHECK

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and local health departments conduct safety inspections of food establishments to ensure compliance with food safety regulations. This includes hygiene standards, food handling practices, and sanitation procedures.

FROZEN TRUCK

Transporting frozen goods in a frozen trunk requires careful planning, monitoring, and adherence to temperature control protocols to ensure that the goods reach their destination in optimal condition. Proper handling and maintenance of the frozen truck are essential to preserving the quality and safety of frozen goods during transportation.

FROZEN STORAGE

Frozen goods are not immediately distributed or used; they are stored in appropriate cold storage facilities that maintain the required temperature levels. Proper storage conditions are crucial to preserving the quality and safety of frozen goods.

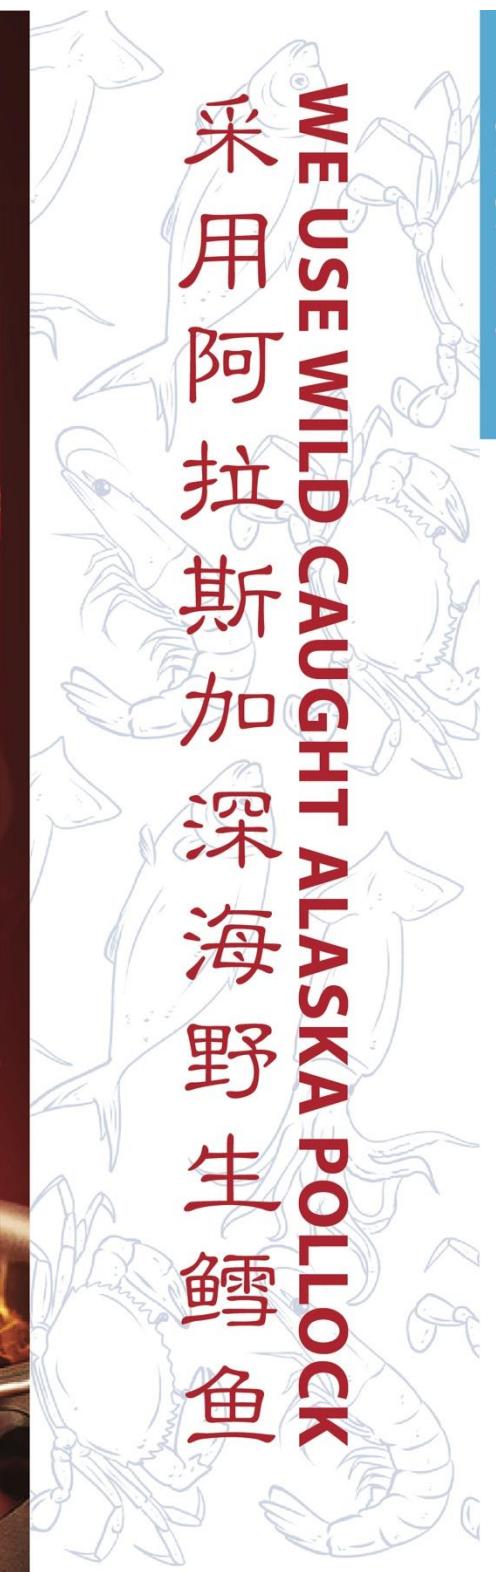

ENJOY WITH YOUR FAMILY

Enjoying Ri Wang Food with family and loved ones is a wonderful way to create lasting memories and strengthen bonds. Sharing meals together fosters connection, communication, and a sense of togetherness. Whether it's a home-cooked meal, a special outing to a restaurant, or a picnic in the park, the act of sharing Ri Wang Food brings people closer and creates moments of joy and happiness.
